SECTION 07

Trading Conditions

General Trading Conditions

- 7.1 All Transactions shall be executed in accordance with this Agreement, the Contract Specifications, and the Company's Execution Policy. The Client acknowledges that they have read and understood the Execution Policy and the Contract Specifications before placing any Orders.
- 7.2 The Company acts as the counterparty to all Transactions executed by the Client. The Company is not an exchange, marketplace, or intermediary. When the Client enters into a Transaction, the Client is trading directly with the Company.
- 7.3 The Company shall make available prices for Financial Instruments during market hours as specified in the Contract Specifications. Prices quoted by the Company are derived from third-party liquidity providers and market data sources. The Company does not guarantee the continuous availability of prices during trading hours.
- 7.4 The trading hours for each Financial Instrument are set out in the Contract Specifications. The Company reserves the right to amend trading hours at any time, including but not limited to in response to changes in underlying market hours, daylight saving time adjustments, public holidays, or other circumstances.

Order Types

- 7.5 The Company supports the following order types, subject to Platform capabilities and the Contract Specifications:
- (a) Market Orders: Orders to buy or sell at the best available price at the time of execution. Market Orders are subject to slippage and may be executed at a price different from the price displayed at the time the Order was placed;
  - (b) Limit Orders: Orders to buy or sell at a specified price or better. Buy Limit Orders are placed below the current market price; Sell Limit Orders are placed above the current market price. Limit Orders are not guaranteed to be filled;
  - (c) Stop Orders: Orders to buy or sell when the price reaches a specified level. Buy Stop Orders are placed above the current market price; Sell Stop Orders are placed below the current market price. Stop Orders become Market Orders upon triggering and are subject to slippage;
  - (d) Stop Loss Orders: Orders to close an existing position at a specified price to limit losses. Stop Loss Orders become Market Orders upon triggering and are subject to slippage. Stop Loss Orders are not guaranteed to be executed at the specified price, particularly during periods of high volatility, market gaps, or low liquidity;
  - (e) Take Profit Orders: Orders to close an existing position at a specified price to lock in profits. Take Profit Orders are triggered when the bid or ask price (as applicable) reaches the specified level;
  - (f) Trailing Stop Orders: Stop Loss Orders that automatically adjust as the market price moves in the Client's favor, maintaining a fixed distance from the current market price. Trailing Stop Orders are processed on the Client's terminal and require an active connection to the Platform.

Execution, Slippage, and Requotes

- 7.6 The Client acknowledges and agrees that Orders may be subject to slippage. Slippage occurs when the price at which an Order is executed differs from the price at which the Order was placed. Slippage may be positive (in the Client's favor) or negative (against the Client's favor) and is a normal market occurrence, particularly during periods of high volatility, low liquidity, or at market opening.
- 7.7 The Company may, at its sole discretion, offer either instant execution or market execution for different Financial Instruments or Account types. Under instant execution, the Client may receive requotes if the price has moved beyond the Company's acceptable tolerance. Under market execution, Orders are executed at the best available market price and requotes do not apply.
- 7.8 The Company does not guarantee the execution of any Order. Orders may be rejected or cancelled by the Company for any legitimate reason, including but not limited to insufficient margin, market closure, price unavailability, abnormal market conditions, or breach of this Agreement.
- 7.9 The Client acknowledges that during periods of extreme market volatility, market gaps, or illiquid market conditions, orders (including Stop Loss and Take Profit Orders) may be executed at prices significantly different from the specified price. The Company shall not be liable for any losses arising from such price gaps.

Position Management

- 7.10 The Company may offer Hedging or Netting modes for position management, depending on the Account type and Platform. Under Hedging mode, the Client may hold simultaneous opposing positions in the same Financial Instrument. Under Netting mode, only one net position per Financial Instrument may be held at any time.
- 7.11 Open positions are subject to Swap charges or credits for each night the position is held past the daily rollover time. Swap rates are set out in the Contract Specifications and may be updated by the Company at any time without prior notice. Triple Swap charges typically apply on Wednesdays (or Fridays for certain instruments) to account for weekend financing.
- 7.12 The Company reserves the right to set minimum and maximum order sizes, minimum stop/limit distances, and maximum number of open positions per Client or per Account. These limits are set out in the Contract Specifications and may be modified by the Company at any time.
- 7.13 The Client acknowledges that certain Financial Instruments may have expiry dates (such as futures-based CFDs). The Company shall automatically close or roll over positions in expiring instruments in accordance with the Contract Specifications and any notifications provided to the Client.

SECTION 08

Order Execution

- 8.1 The Company shall execute Client Orders in accordance with the Execution Policy, which is available on the Company's website. The Client acknowledges that they have read and understood the Execution Policy prior to entering into this Agreement.
- 8.2 The Company shall take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for the Client when executing Orders, taking into account price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, nature, and any other consideration relevant to the execution of the Order.
- 8.3 The Client acknowledges that the Company may, in certain circumstances, act as a principal (dealing on its own account) when executing Client Orders. In such cases, the Company is the counterparty to the Client's Transaction and a conflict of interest may arise between the Company's interests and the Client's interests.
- 8.4 An Order shall be deemed executed when it is recorded as executed on the Company's server. The Client's Platform log or terminal journal may not reflect the exact time or price of execution if there is a latency or connectivity issue between the Client's terminal and the Company's server.
- 8.5 In the event of a dispute regarding the execution of an Order, the records maintained on the Company's server shall be the definitive record and shall prevail over any records maintained on the Client's terminal or any third-party records.
- 8.6 The Client acknowledges that the execution speed may vary depending on the Client's internet connection, the distance between the Client's terminal and the Company's server, market conditions, and other factors beyond the Company's control.

- 8.7 The Company reserves the right to decline any Order or to limit the size of any Order where it determines, acting reasonably, that such action is necessary to manage its risk exposure or to maintain orderly market conditions.

Deposits and Withdrawals

- 9.1 The Client may deposit funds into their Account using any of the payment methods made available by the Company from time to time, as displayed in the Client Area. The Company reserves the right to change the available payment methods at any time without prior notice.
- 9.2 All deposits must be made from payment sources registered in the Client's own name. The Company shall not accept deposits from third parties. Where a deposit is received from a third party, the Company reserves the right to return the funds to the originating account and may charge an administrative fee for doing so.
- 9.3 The Company shall use reasonable endeavors to credit deposits to the Client's Account promptly upon receipt of cleared funds. Processing times may vary depending on the payment method used and are indicative only. The Company shall not be liable for any delays caused by payment processors, banks, or other intermediaries.
- 9.4 Minimum deposit amounts may apply depending on the Account type and payment method. The applicable minimum deposit amounts are set out on the Company's website and in the Client Area.
- 9.5 Withdrawal requests must be submitted through the Client Area. The Company shall process withdrawal requests within a reasonable time, typically within one to three (1-3) Business Days, subject to the completion of any required verification checks.
- 9.6 The Company's general policy is to return funds to the same payment source from which the original deposit was made. Where this is not possible, the Company may, at its discretion, process the withdrawal via an alternative method, subject to enhanced due diligence checks.
- 9.7 The Company reserves the right to withhold or delay any withdrawal if:
- (a) The Client has open positions and the withdrawal would result in insufficient Margin to maintain those positions;
  - (b) The Company has reason to believe that the Client's Account has been compromised or that the withdrawal request is fraudulent;
  - (c) The Company is required to do so by any applicable law, regulation, or order of a competent authority;
  - (d) The Client has not completed the Company's verification requirements;
  - (e) There are outstanding bonuses or promotional credits subject to unmet trading volume requirements;

- (f) The Company reasonably suspects that the Client has engaged in Prohibited Trading Practices or has otherwise breached this Agreement.
- 9.8 Where the Client deposits funds in a currency different from the base currency of their Account, the Company shall convert the deposited amount at the prevailing exchange rate applied by the Company. The Client acknowledges that currency conversion charges may apply.
- 9.9 The Client acknowledges that they may incur fees from their bank or payment provider in connection with deposits and withdrawals, and that such fees are the sole responsibility of the Client.

Margin and Leverage

- 10.1 The Client must maintain sufficient Margin in their Account at all times to support their open positions. Margin requirements are set out in the Contract Specifications and may vary by Financial Instrument, Account type, and Client classification.
- 10.2 The Company offers various leverage ratios depending on the Financial Instrument, Account type, and Client classification. The maximum available leverage is set out in the Contract Specifications. The Company reserves the right to change the available leverage at any time, with or without prior notice, including but not limited to in response to changes in market conditions or regulatory requirements.
- 10.3 The Client acknowledges that while leverage amplifies potential profits, it equally amplifies potential losses. The Client may lose more than their initial deposit, and it is the Client's responsibility to monitor their Margin Level at all times and to deposit additional funds or close positions as necessary to maintain the required Margin.
- 10.4 The Company shall issue a Margin Call when the Client's Margin Level falls to or below the Margin Call level specified in the Contract Specifications (typically 100% Margin Level or as otherwise specified). A Margin Call serves as a warning that the Client's Account is approaching the Stop Out level.
- 10.5 The Company is not obligated to provide Margin Call notifications, and the absence of a Margin Call notification shall not relieve the Client of their obligation to maintain sufficient Margin at all times. It is the Client's sole responsibility to monitor their Margin Level.
- 10.6 If the Client's Margin Level falls to or below the Stop Out level specified in the Contract Specifications (typically 20%-50% Margin Level or as otherwise specified), the Company shall begin to automatically close the Client's open positions, starting with the position carrying the largest unrealized loss, until the Client's Margin Level is restored above the Stop Out level.
- 10.7 The Client acknowledges that the Stop Out mechanism is not guaranteed to prevent the Client's Account from entering a negative balance. In conditions of extreme market volatility, market gaps, or illiquidity, positions may be closed at prices significantly different from the Stop Out level, potentially resulting in a negative Account balance.

- 10.8 Where the Company offers negative balance protection to Retail Clients, the Company shall reset the Client's Account balance to zero where the balance has become negative as a result of trading activity. Negative balance protection does not apply to Professional Clients or Eligible Counterparties unless otherwise agreed in writing.
- 10.9 The Company reserves the right to increase Margin requirements, reduce leverage, or apply special margin conditions for specific Financial Instruments, specific Clients, or during specific market events (including but not limited to elections, central bank announcements, economic data releases, or periods of expected high volatility) without prior notice.
- 10.10 Where the Company reduces leverage or increases Margin requirements, the Client may be required to deposit additional funds to maintain existing open positions. Failure to deposit sufficient funds may result in the automatic closure of some or all of the Client's open positions.

Fees and Charges

- 11.1 The Client shall pay all fees and charges applicable to their Account and Transactions as set out in this Agreement, the Contract Specifications, and on the Company's website. The Company reserves the right to amend its fee schedule at any time with reasonable notice to the Client.
- 11.2 The following fees and charges may apply to the Client's Account:
- (a) Spreads: The difference between the Bid and Ask price. Spreads may be fixed or variable depending on the Financial Instrument and Account type, and may widen during periods of low liquidity or high volatility;
  - (b) Commissions: A per-trade or per-lot commission charged on certain Account types or Financial Instruments, as specified in the Contract Specifications;
  - (c) Swap/Overnight Financing: Charges or credits applied to open positions held past the daily rollover time. Swap rates are published in the Contract Specifications and may be updated without prior notice;
  - (d) Currency Conversion Fees: Where a Transaction involves a currency different from the base currency of the Client's Account, a currency conversion fee may apply at the Company's prevailing exchange rate;
  - (e) Deposit and Withdrawal Fees: The Company may charge fees for deposits and/or withdrawals depending on the payment method used, as specified on the Company's website;
  - (f) Inactivity Fee: A monthly fee applied to Accounts that have had no trading activity for a specified period, as set out in Section 28 (Dormant and Inactive Accounts);

  - (h) Administrative Fees: Fees for account-related administrative services, including but not limited to account statements, confirmations, or other documentation requested by the Client.

- 11.3 The Company shall deduct all applicable fees and charges directly from the Client's Account without the need for prior authorization from the Client. The Client authorizes the Company to make such deductions by entering into this Agreement.
- 11.4 The Company may receive remuneration, commissions, or other benefits from third parties in connection with the provision of its services to the Client. The Company shall disclose the existence of such arrangements upon request.
- 11.5 Where the Client introduces other Clients to the Company under a referral or introducing broker arrangement, any commissions or fees payable to the Client shall be governed by a separate agreement between the Client and the Company.
- 11.6 The Company shall make available an up-to-date schedule of all applicable fees and charges on its website. The Client is responsible for reviewing the fee schedule regularly and for understanding all costs associated with their Account and Transactions.

SECTION 12

Platform Usage and Electronic Trading

Platform Access and Use

- 12.1 The Company grants the Client a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable licence to use the Platform (MetaTrader 5) for the sole purpose of accessing the Company's services and executing Transactions in accordance with this Agreement.
- 12.2 The Client shall not copy, modify, decompile, reverse-engineer, distribute, sell, lease, or create derivative works based on the Platform or any part thereof, except to the extent permitted by applicable law.
- 12.3 The Company shall use reasonable endeavors to ensure the availability and proper functioning of the Platform. However, the Company does not guarantee uninterrupted or error-free access to the Platform. The Platform may be unavailable from time to time due to maintenance, upgrades, system failures, or other causes beyond the Company's reasonable control.
- 12.4 The Company shall not be liable for any loss or damage arising from the unavailability, malfunction, or interruption of the Platform, including but not limited to losses arising from the Client's inability to place, modify, or cancel Orders during a period of Platform unavailability.

Electronic Trading Risks

- 12.5 The Client acknowledges that electronic trading involves inherent risks, including but not limited to:
- (a) System failures, hardware malfunctions, and software errors that may affect the operation of the Platform or the execution of Orders;
  - (b) Internet connectivity issues, network latency, and telecommunications failures that may prevent the Client from accessing the Platform or result in delayed execution of Orders;

- (c) Cyber-attacks, unauthorized access, and security breaches that may compromise the integrity of the Platform or the Client's Account;
- (d) Power failures affecting the Client's equipment, internet service provider, or the Company's infrastructure;
- (e) Data corruption or loss during transmission between the Client's terminal and the Company's server.

12.6 The Client is solely responsible for providing and maintaining adequate hardware, software, internet connectivity, and security measures necessary to access and use the Platform. The Company shall not be liable for any loss arising from the Client's failure to maintain suitable equipment or connectivity.

Expert Advisors and Automated Trading

- 12.7 The Company may permit the use of Expert Advisors (EAs) and other automated trading programs on the Platform, subject to the following conditions:
- (a) The Client is solely responsible for the selection, installation, configuration, operation, and monitoring of any EA or automated trading program used on their Account;
  - (b) The Company shall not be liable for any loss or damage arising from the use of any EA or automated trading program, including losses resulting from programming errors, incorrect parameters, or malfunction of the EA;
  - (c) The Company reserves the right to restrict or prohibit the use of any EA or automated trading program that the Company determines, at its sole discretion, to be abusive, manipulative, or detrimental to the Company's operations or other Clients;
  - (d) The Company may impose limits on the frequency of orders, the number of pending orders, or the server load generated by EAs, and may disable EAs that exceed such limits.

API Access

- 12.8 Where the Company provides Application Programming Interface (API) access, the Client agrees to:
- (a) Use the API solely for the purpose of accessing the Company's services in connection with the Client's own Account;
  - (b) Comply with any technical requirements, usage limits, and acceptable use policies communicated by the Company;
  - (c) Not redistribute, resell, or share API access with any third party without the Company's prior written consent;
  - (d) Accept that the Company may throttle, suspend, or terminate API access at any time without prior notice if the Client's usage is deemed excessive or abusive.

SECTION 13

Prohibited Trading Practices

- 13.1 The Client agrees not to engage in any trading practice that the Company considers, at its sole discretion, to be abusive, manipulative, unfair, or designed to exploit the Company's pricing, execution, or systems. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following practices are expressly prohibited:

Arbitrage and Exploitation

- 13.2 Latency Arbitrage: Exploiting delays in the Company's price feed to trade on stale or delayed prices before they are updated to reflect current market conditions. This includes the use of ultra-low-latency connections, co-located servers, or specialized software to gain an unfair speed advantage over the Company's pricing systems.
- 13.3 Price Arbitrage: Systematically exploiting pricing discrepancies between the Company's quoted prices and those of other brokers, liquidity providers, or market data sources, where such discrepancies arise from temporary system delays, data feed issues, or other technical factors.
- 13.4 Bonus Arbitrage: Opening positions or executing Transactions primarily or solely for the purpose of exploiting bonuses, promotional credits, or incentive programs offered by the Company, including but not limited to hedging across multiple accounts or brokers to satisfy volume requirements with minimal market risk.
- 13.5 Swap Arbitrage: Exploiting differences in swap rates between Account types (including Islamic/swap-free accounts) by opening offsetting positions across different accounts to profit from the swap differential without assuming genuine market risk.

Abusive High-Frequency and Algorithmic Trading

- 13.6 Abusive High-Frequency Trading (HFT): The use of algorithms or automated systems that generate an excessive volume of orders or order modifications in a very short period of time, with the effect of overloading the Company's trading infrastructure, degrading service quality for other Clients, or exploiting momentary system vulnerabilities.
- 13.7 Tick Scalping: The use of automated systems to enter and exit positions at near-instantaneous speeds, targeting individual price ticks, where such activity is not consistent with genuine trading and is intended to exploit the Company's pricing or execution mechanisms.

Market Manipulation and Abuse

- 13.8 Spoofing: Placing orders with the intent to cancel them before execution in order to create a false impression of market demand or supply, or to manipulate the price of a Financial Instrument.
- 13.9 Layering: Placing multiple orders at different price levels on one side of the order book with the intent to create a misleading impression of supply or demand, followed by the cancellation of those orders after executing a trade on the opposite side.
- 13.10 Wash Trading: Simultaneously or near-simultaneously buying and selling the same Financial Instrument in order to create the appearance of genuine trading activity, generate artificial volume, or satisfy trading volume requirements.

- 13.11 Coordinated Trading: Acting in concert with one or more other persons to manipulate the price of a Financial Instrument, to exploit the Company's pricing or execution systems, or to circumvent any Account-level limits or restrictions imposed by the Company.

Exploitation of Errors and System Vulnerabilities

- 13.12 Exploitation of Price Errors: Knowingly trading on prices that the Client knows or reasonably ought to know do not reflect genuine market conditions, including prices resulting from system errors, data feed errors, or Manifest Errors.
- 13.13 Exploitation of System Vulnerabilities: Attempting to exploit any bug, error, vulnerability, or deficiency in the Company's Platform, pricing systems, or risk management systems for the purpose of obtaining an unfair trading advantage.

Other Prohibited Practices

- 13.14 The following additional practices are prohibited:

- (a) Opening multiple accounts with the Company using different identities or personal details for the purpose of circumventing trading restrictions, exploiting promotions, or otherwise deceiving the Company;
- (b) Using any device, software, or technique to interfere with or disrupt the proper operation of the Platform, the Company's servers, or the Company's business;
- (c) Engaging in any trading activity that is intended to, or has the effect of, manipulating or artificially influencing the price of any Financial Instrument offered by the Company;
- (d) Using insider information or material non-public information to trade on the Company's Platform;
- (e) Engaging in any activity that constitutes market abuse under applicable law or regulation.

Consequences of Prohibited Trading Practices

- 13.15 Where the Company determines, at its sole discretion, that the Client has engaged in any Prohibited Trading Practice, the Company may take one or more of the following actions without prior notice:
- (a) Void, cancel, or reverse any Transactions that the Company determines were executed as a result of, or in connection with, the Prohibited Trading Practice;
  - (b) Adjust the Client's Account balance to reflect the removal of any profits derived from the Prohibited Trading Practice;
  - (c) Close some or all of the Client's open positions;
  - (d) Restrict or suspend the Client's Account, including restricting deposits, withdrawals, and trading activity;
  - (e) Terminate this Agreement and close the Client's Account in accordance with Section 27 (Termination);
  - (f) Revoke any bonuses, promotional credits, or incentives credited to the Client's Account;

(g) Report the Client's activities to the relevant regulatory authorities or law enforcement agencies.

13.16 The Company's determination as to whether a particular trading practice constitutes a Prohibited Trading Practice shall be final and binding on the Client. The Company shall not be required to provide detailed reasons for its determination, except to the extent required by applicable law.

SECTION 14

Market Abuse and Manipulation

14.1 The Client shall not engage in any conduct that constitutes market abuse, market manipulation, or insider dealing under any applicable law or regulation, including but not limited to the EU Market Abuse Regulation (MAR), the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, or equivalent legislation in the Client's jurisdiction.

14.2 Without limiting the generality of clause 14.1, the Client shall not:

- (a) Trade on the basis of inside information — that is, information of a precise nature which has not been made public, which relates directly or indirectly to one or more Financial Instruments, and which, if made public, would be likely to have a significant effect on the price of those instruments;
- (b) Engage in front-running — that is, entering into a Transaction for the Client's own benefit on the basis of advance knowledge of a pending order or transaction by another person that is likely to affect the price of a Financial Instrument;
- (c) Disseminate false or misleading information about a Financial Instrument for the purpose of influencing its price;
- (d) Engage in any transaction or series of transactions that gives, or is likely to give, false or misleading signals as to the supply of, demand for, or price of a Financial Instrument.

14.3 The Company maintains surveillance systems and procedures to detect market abuse and manipulation. The Client acknowledges that the Company may monitor the Client's trading activity for the purpose of identifying potentially abusive or manipulative behaviour.

14.4 Where the Company identifies or suspects market abuse or manipulation, it shall take appropriate action, which may include reporting the suspicious activity to the relevant regulatory authorities, suspending or terminating the Client's Account, and/or taking any of the actions described in clause 13.15.

14.5 The Client acknowledges that market abuse and manipulation may constitute criminal offences under applicable law, punishable by fines and/or imprisonment.

SECTION 15

Error Handling and Price Adjustments

- 15.1 The Client acknowledges that from time to time, the Company's pricing systems may display prices that do not accurately reflect prevailing market conditions ("Manifest Errors"). Manifest Errors may arise from, but are not limited to, incorrect price feeds from liquidity providers, system malfunctions, human error, or abnormal market conditions.
- 15.2 Where a Transaction has been executed at a price that the Company determines, acting reasonably, to be a Manifest Error, the Company reserves the right to:
- (a) Void or cancel the Transaction as though it had never been executed;
  - (b) Adjust the opening or closing price of the Transaction to reflect the price that would have been quoted had the Manifest Error not occurred;
  - (c) Close the Transaction at the corrected price.
- 15.3 In determining whether a price constitutes a Manifest Error, the Company shall take into account all relevant factors, including but not limited to the prevailing market prices at the time of the Transaction, the prices offered by other market participants, the volatility of the relevant Financial Instrument, and any errors in any information source or pronouncement upon which the Company has based its quoted price.
- 15.4 The Company shall not be liable for any loss or damage suffered by the Client as a result of the correction or cancellation of Transactions executed at Manifest Error prices. The Client acknowledges that they have no legitimate expectation of profiting from Transactions executed at prices that do not reflect genuine market conditions.
- 15.5 The Client agrees to notify the Company promptly upon becoming aware of any price that the Client believes may be a Manifest Error. The Client shall not knowingly exploit a Manifest Error.
- 15.6 Where the Company makes an error in the execution of a Client's Order (including executing at an incorrect price, incorrect volume, or incorrect instrument), the Company shall take reasonable steps to correct the error. The Company reserves the right to determine, at its sole discretion, the appropriate corrective action, which may include voiding the Transaction, adjusting the execution price, or compensating the Client for any losses directly attributable to the Company's error.
- 15.7 Prices quoted outside of normal market hours, during periods of extreme volatility, or immediately following significant news events may be indicative only and may not be executable. The Company shall not be liable for the non-execution of Orders at indicative prices.
- 15.8 The Company reserves the right to amend its price feed, adjust or recalculate historical prices, and make retrospective adjustments to the Client's Account where it determines that an error has occurred. The Company shall notify the Client of any such adjustment within a reasonable period.

SECTION 16

Risk Acknowledgment

IMPORTANT RISK WARNING

Trading in CFDs and other Financial Instruments involves a high degree of risk. The Client may lose all of their invested capital and, in certain circumstances, may be required to deposit additional funds to cover losses. CFDs are complex instruments and come with a high risk of losing money rapidly due to leverage. The Client should carefully consider whether they understand how CFDs work and whether they can afford to take the high risk of losing their money.

- 16.1 The Client acknowledges that they have received, read, and understood the Risk Disclosure Statement provided by the Company, which forms part of this Agreement.
- 16.2 The Client acknowledges and accepts the following risks associated with trading Financial Instruments:
- (a) Market Risk: The value of Financial Instruments may fluctuate rapidly and unpredictably due to market conditions, economic events, political developments, and other factors beyond the Company's or the Client's control;
  - (b) Leverage Risk: Leverage amplifies both potential profits and potential losses. A small adverse price movement may result in the total loss of the Client's invested capital and, where applicable, may require the Client to deposit additional funds;
  - (c) Liquidity Risk: Certain Financial Instruments may become illiquid during periods of extreme market stress, making it difficult or impossible to close positions at the desired price;
  - (d) Gap Risk: Prices may gap significantly between trading sessions or during periods of extreme volatility, meaning that Stop Loss Orders and other protective orders may not be executed at the specified price;
  - (e) Counterparty Risk: The Company is the counterparty to all Client Transactions. The Client's exposure to the Company is that of an unsecured creditor, and the Client's funds may be at risk in the event of the Company's insolvency;
  - (f) Technology Risk: Platform failures, system errors, and connectivity issues may prevent the Client from managing their positions or executing Orders;
  - (g) Currency Risk: Where the Client trades instruments denominated in a currency different from the base currency of their Account, exchange rate fluctuations may affect the value of the Client's positions and Account balance;
  - (h) Regulatory Risk: Changes in laws, regulations, or government policies may adversely affect the Client's Transactions, the Company's services, or the terms of this Agreement.
- 16.3 Past performance of any Financial Instrument is not indicative of future results. The Company does not guarantee any particular outcome or return on the Client's investment.
- 16.4 The Client confirms that they are willing and financially able to bear the risk of losing their entire investment and that they will not invest funds that they cannot afford to lose.

SECTION 17

Client Obligations

- 17.1 The Client shall at all times comply with all applicable laws, regulations, and rules in connection with their use of the Company's services and the execution of Transactions.
  - 17.2 The Client shall provide the Company with accurate and complete information as required by this Agreement and shall promptly notify the Company of any material changes to such information.
  - 17.3 The Client shall maintain the security and confidentiality of their Account login credentials and shall not disclose them to any third party. The Client shall take all reasonable precautions to prevent unauthorized access to their Account.
  - 17.4 The Client shall monitor their open positions and Margin Level on an ongoing basis and shall ensure that sufficient funds are maintained in their Account to meet Margin requirements at all times.
  - 17.5 The Client shall not use the Company's services for any illegal, fraudulent, or unauthorized purpose, including but not limited to money laundering, terrorist financing, tax evasion, or any other financial crime.
  - 17.6 The Client shall promptly review all trade confirmations, account statements, and other communications provided by the Company and shall notify the Company of any errors or discrepancies within forty-eight (48) hours of receipt. Failure to notify the Company within this period shall constitute acceptance of the accuracy of such communications.
  - 17.7 The Client shall not assign, transfer, or encumber any rights or obligations under this Agreement without the prior written consent of the Company.
  - 17.8 The Client acknowledges that they are solely responsible for any tax obligations arising from their trading activity and that the Company does not provide tax advice. The Client shall seek independent professional tax advice where necessary.

SECTION 18

Company Rights

- 18.1 Without prejudice to any other rights the Company may have under this Agreement or at law, the Company reserves the right, at its sole discretion and without prior notice (unless otherwise required by law), to take any of the following actions:
  - (a) Refuse to open an Account, or refuse to execute any Transaction or Order, without providing reasons;
  - (b) Suspend, restrict, or terminate the Client's access to the Platform, the Client Area, or any of the Company's services;
  - (c) Close any or all of the Client's open positions at the prevailing market price, without prior notice, where the Company deems such action necessary to protect the Company's interests or to comply with applicable laws or regulations;
  - (d) Freeze or block the Client's Account, including preventing deposits, withdrawals, and trading activity, where the Company suspects fraud, money laundering, terrorist financing, or other illegal activity;

- (e) Adjust the Client's Account balance, including debiting the Account, to correct errors, reverse Transactions executed at Manifest Error prices, or recover amounts owed by the Client to the Company;
  - (f) Change the leverage, margin requirements, trading conditions, or other parameters applicable to the Client's Account, with or without prior notice;
  - (g) Limit the Client's maximum position size, the maximum number of open positions, or the maximum exposure per Financial Instrument;
  - (h) Set off any amounts owed by the Client to the Company against any amounts held in the Client's Account or owed by the Company to the Client.
- 18.2 The Company reserves the right to modify, suspend, or discontinue any Financial Instrument, Account type, or service at any time, with reasonable notice to the Client where practicable.
- 18.3 The Company reserves the right to amend the terms of this Agreement in accordance with Section 34 (Amendments). The Client's continued use of the Company's services following any such amendment shall constitute acceptance of the amended terms.
- 18.4 The Company reserves the right to assign, transfer, or novate its rights and obligations under this Agreement to any third party, including any affiliate or successor entity, upon reasonable notice to the Client. The Client agrees to execute any documents necessary to give effect to such assignment or transfer.
- 18.5 The Company shall have a general lien over all funds and assets held in the Client's Account or otherwise held by the Company on the Client's behalf. The Company may exercise this lien to satisfy any amounts owed by the Client to the Company under this Agreement or any other agreement between the parties.
- 18.6 The Company reserves the right to record all telephone conversations, electronic communications, and other interactions with the Client. Such recordings may be used as evidence in the event of a dispute between the Company and the Client.

SECTION 19

Client Money

- 19.1 The Company shall hold Client funds in accordance with applicable regulatory requirements. Where required, Client funds shall be segregated from the Company's own funds and held in designated client money bank accounts with reputable financial institutions.
- 19.2 The Client acknowledges that the Company may hold Client funds with third-party banks, financial institutions, or payment processors in one or more jurisdictions. The Company shall exercise reasonable care in selecting such institutions but shall not be liable for the insolvency, acts, or omissions of any third-party institution holding Client funds.
- 19.3 The Company may hold Client funds in omnibus accounts together with funds belonging to other clients. In the event of the insolvency of the Company or the institution holding the omnibus account, the Client's claim may be against the pooled funds and not the Company, and the Client may not recover the full amount of their funds.

- 19.4 Client funds shall be used solely for the purpose of maintaining the Client's Account, meeting Margin requirements, settling Transactions, and meeting the Client's obligations under this Agreement. The Company shall not use Client funds for its own business purposes.
- 19.5 The Company shall not pay interest on Client funds held in client money accounts unless expressly agreed in writing.
- 19.6 The Client acknowledges that funds deposited with the Company are not covered by any deposit protection or guarantee scheme unless the Company expressly states otherwise. Where the Company is a participant in any investor compensation scheme, details of the scheme, including coverage limits, are available on the Company's website.

Conflicts of Interest

- 20.1 The Client acknowledges that conflicts of interest may arise between the Company and the Client, between the Company's employees and the Client, or between different Clients. The Company has established and maintains a Conflict of Interest Policy to identify, prevent, and manage such conflicts.
- 20.2 Without limiting the generality of clause 20.1, the following situations may give rise to conflicts of interest:
- (a) The Company acts as the counterparty to the Client's Transactions and therefore has a financial interest in the outcome of such Transactions that is directly opposite to the Client's interest;
  - (b) The Company may provide services to other Clients whose interests conflict with those of the Client;
  - (c) The Company, its employees, or its affiliates may trade on their own account in the same Financial Instruments as the Client;
  - (d) The Company may receive remuneration, commissions, or other benefits from third parties in connection with the execution of Client orders.
- 20.3 The Company takes all reasonable steps to manage conflicts of interest fairly, including through the implementation of organizational and administrative arrangements. Where conflicts of interest cannot be fully managed, the Company shall disclose the general nature and sources of such conflicts to the Client before providing the relevant service.
- 20.4 The Company's Conflict of Interest Policy is available on the Company's website. The Client is encouraged to review this policy and may request further details from the Company.

SECTION 21

Bonuses, Promotions, and Incentives

- 21.1 The Company may, from time to time, offer bonuses, promotional credits, cashback programs, trading contests, or other incentives (collectively, "Promotions") to the Client. Participation in any Promotion is subject to the specific terms and conditions of that Promotion, which shall be provided to the Client at the time the Promotion is offered.
- 21.2 Unless otherwise specified in the Promotion terms, bonuses and promotional credits are not withdrawable cash and are provided solely to increase the Client's trading capacity. Bonus funds may be withdrawn only after the Client has met the applicable trading volume requirements as specified in the Promotion terms.
- 21.3 The Company reserves the right to revoke, reduce, or claw back any bonus or promotional credit where:
- (a) The Client has not met the applicable trading volume requirements within the specified timeframe;
  - (b) The Client has engaged in any Prohibited Trading Practice or has otherwise abused the Promotion;
  - (c) The Client requests a withdrawal from their Account before the trading volume requirements have been met;
  - (d) The Company discovers that the Client provided false or misleading information to qualify for the Promotion;
  - (e) The Company determines that the Client has opened multiple accounts or acted in concert with other persons to exploit the Promotion.
- 21.4 Where a bonus or promotional credit is revoked, the Company shall debit the corresponding amount from the Client's Account. If the revocation would result in insufficient Margin to maintain open positions, the Company may close some or all of the Client's open positions without prior notice.
- 21.5 The Company reserves the right to modify, suspend, or cancel any Promotion at any time, with or without prior notice. The Company shall not be liable for any loss or damage arising from the modification, suspension, or cancellation of a Promotion.
- 21.6 In the event of a conflict between the terms of a specific Promotion and the terms of this Agreement, the terms of this Agreement shall prevail unless the Promotion terms expressly state otherwise.
- 21.7 Promotions are personal to the Client and may not be transferred to any other person. The Client may not participate in the same Promotion more than once unless the Promotion terms expressly permit it.

22.2 Communications sent by the Company shall be deemed received by the Client as follows:

- (d) If sent by post: on the third Business Day after posting (for domestic mail) or the seventh Business Day after posting (for international mail).

22.3 The Client agrees that the Company may provide all notices, disclosures, statements, confirmations, and other communications electronically rather than in paper form. The Client consents to receiving such communications by email and/or through the Client Area.

22.4 The Client is responsible for ensuring that their contact details (including email address, telephone number, and postal address) registered with the Company are accurate and up to date. The Company shall not be liable for any failure of communication resulting from incorrect or outdated contact details provided by the Client.

22.5 All communications from the Client to the Company regarding this Agreement, including complaints, requests, and notices, should be directed to support@exoraprime.com or through the Client Area, unless a different contact address is specified for a particular purpose in this Agreement.

22.6 The Company's official language of communication is English. Where the Company provides communications in other languages, this is for convenience only, and in the event of any discrepancy between the English version and a translated version, the English version shall prevail.

Complaints and Disputes

23.1 If the Client wishes to file a complaint regarding any aspect of the Company's services, the Client should submit the complaint in writing to complaints@exoraprime.com or through the Client Area.

Where the Company requires additional time to investigate the complaint, it shall notify the Client of the expected timeframe for resolution.
- 23.4 The Company shall investigate all complaints fairly and impartially and shall provide the Client with a final response setting out the Company's findings and any remedial action to be taken.
- 23.5 If the Client is not satisfied with the Company's final response, or if the Company has failed to respond within the specified timeframe, the Client may be entitled to refer the complaint to the relevant external dispute resolution body or regulatory authority, details of which are available on the Company's website.
- 23.6 The existence of a complaint or dispute shall not relieve the Client of their obligations under this Agreement, including the obligation to maintain sufficient Margin and to satisfy any amounts owed to the Company.

SECTION 24

Limitation of Liability

- 24.1 To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, the Company, its directors, officers, employees, agents, and affiliates shall not be liable to the Client for any loss or damage arising from or in connection with this Agreement, the provision of the Company's services, or the Client's use of the Platform, except where such loss or damage is caused by the Company's willful default, fraud, or gross negligence.
- 24.2 Without limiting the generality of clause 24.1, the Company shall not be liable for:
- (a) Any loss of profit, loss of revenue, loss of opportunity, loss of anticipated savings, or loss of business, whether direct or indirect;
  - (b) Any indirect, consequential, special, incidental, or punitive damages;

- (g) Any loss arising from the actions or omissions of third parties, including banks, payment processors, liquidity providers, or data feed providers;
  - (h) Any loss arising from a Force Majeure Event;
  - (i) Any loss arising from the Client's failure to comply with this Agreement or to maintain adequate security over their Account credentials.
- 24.3 In any event, the Company's total aggregate liability to the Client under or in connection with this Agreement shall not exceed the total amount of fees and commissions paid by the Client to the Company during the twelve (12) month period immediately preceding the event giving rise to the claim.
- 24.4 The Client acknowledges that the limitations of liability set out in this Section are reasonable and reflect the allocation of risk between the parties, having regard to the nature of the services provided and the fees charged by the Company.
- 24.5 Nothing in this Agreement shall exclude or limit the Company's liability for death or personal injury caused by the Company's negligence, for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation, or for any other liability that cannot be excluded or limited under applicable law.

SECTION 25

Indemnification

---

- 25.1 The Client agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the Company, its directors, officers, employees, agents, and affiliates from and against any and all claims, demands, actions, proceedings, losses, damages, liabilities, costs, and expenses (including reasonable legal fees) arising out of or in connection with:
- (a) Any breach by the Client of this Agreement or any representation or warranty made by the Client herein;
  - (b) Any violation by the Client of any applicable law, regulation, or rule;
